Location of Cubs Spring Training

The official cubs spring training address is located in Mesa, Arizona, at the Sloan Park complex. Sloan Park serves as the primary training and practice facility for the Chicago Cubs during the spring training season, typically lasting from mid-February through late March. This location is part of the Cactus League, a collection of Major League Baseball teams that conduct their spring training in the Phoenix metropolitan area.

Sloan Park Address Details

The precise address of Sloan Park, the Cubs' spring training home, is:

- 2330 W Rio Salado Parkway
- Mesa, Arizona 85201
- United States

This address is the destination for fans attending spring training games, as well as for the team's players and staff during the preseason.

Facilities at the Training Complex

The cubs spring training address encompasses more than just a baseball field. Sloan Park is a state-of-the-art baseball complex that includes multiple practice fields, training facilities, and amenities designed to support player development and fan engagement.

Main Stadium Features

Sloan Park boasts a seating capacity of approximately 15,000, making it the largest spring training stadium in Major League Baseball. It offers modern amenities such as luxury suites, concession stands, and fan zones designed to enhance the game-day experience. The stadium surface is meticulously maintained to ensure optimal playing conditions.

Training and Practice Facilities

In addition to the main stadium, the complex includes several practice fields where players conduct drills and workouts. These fields are equipped with batting cages, pitching mounds, and bullpen areas that enable comprehensive training sessions. The clubhouse and rehabilitation centers are also located within the complex, providing essential support for player health and fitness.

History of Cubs Spring Training Site

The cubs spring training address at Sloan Park represents a relatively recent chapter in the franchise's spring training history. Prior to moving to Mesa, the Cubs held spring training in different locations throughout Arizona and Florida.

Previous Training Locations

Before Sloan Park opened in 2014, the Cubs trained at Hohokam Stadium in Mesa from 1997 to 2013. Prior to that, the team's spring training history included sites in Florida, such as in Mesa's sister city, and other desert locales. The move to Sloan Park was part of a broader initiative to upgrade facilities and provide a premier environment for the team.

Development of Sloan Park

Sloan Park was constructed to replace the aging Hohokam Stadium, featuring modern design elements and expanded capacity. It quickly became a fan favorite due to its welcoming atmosphere and high-quality amenities. The park also hosts minor league games and community events throughout the year.

Visiting the Cubs Spring Training Address

Fans planning to visit the cubs spring training address should be aware of the various opportunities and guidelines for attendance. Sloan Park offers a fan-friendly environment with multiple ways to enjoy the Cubs' preseason games and activities.

Hotel guests came from throughout the United States in search of cures and pleasure. Among the many noted celebrities visiting the French Lick Springs and West Baden Springs Hotels were Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Al Capone, Joe Lewis, and professional golfer Walter Hagen, and the West Baden Springs Hotel was known as the Eighth Wonder of the World. After years of neglect, the two hotels have been restored to their original splendor. Legalization of gambling and the building of a riverboat casino between the hotels have lured pleasureseekers to celebrate modernday opulence and recreation.

cubs spring training address: Borchert Field Bob Buege, 2017-04-21 Someone lucky enough to live on Milwaukee's near north side between 1888 and 1952 could experience the world without ever leaving the neighborhood. Nestled between North Seventh and Eighth Streets and West Chambers and Burleigh, Borchert Field was Milwaukee's major sports venue for 64 years. In this rickety wooden stadium (originally called Athletic Park), Wisconsin residents had a close-up view of sports history in the making, along with rodeos, thrill shows, and even multiple eruptions of Mount Vesuvius. In Borchert Field, baseball historian Bob Buege introduces the famous and fascinating athletes who dazzled audiences in Milwaukee's venerable ballpark. All the legendary baseball figures—the Bambino, Satchel Paige, Ty Cobb, Joltin' Joe, Jackie Robinson, the Say Hey Kid—played there. Olympic heroes Jim Thorpe, Babe Didrikson, and Jesse Owens displayed their amazing talents in Borchert. Knute Rockne's Fighting Irish competed there, and Curly Lambeau's Green Bay Packers took the field 10 times. Buege tells stories of other monumental moments at Borchert as well, including a presidential visit, women ballplayers, the arrival of television broadcasting, the 1922 national balloon race, and an appearance by scat-singing bandleader Cab Calloway. Borchert Field is long gone, but every page of this book takes readers back to the sights, sounds, and spectacle of its heyday.

cubs spring training address: Hazen "Kiki" Cuyler Ronald T. Waldo, 2012-10-02 One of the greatest outfielders of his generation, Hazen Kiki Cuyler (1898-1950) was working as a roof assembler in an auto plant in Michigan when he seized an opportunity to realize his dream of playing major league baseball. After toiling in the minor leagues for more than three years, he took the National League by storm and became a legitimate star during his 1924 rookie season with Pittsburgh. Considered one of the fastest and smartest base runners of his era, Cuyler played for four National League pennant winners and participated in three World Series over his career, earning election to the Baseball Hall of Fame in 1968. This definitive biography chronicles Cuyler's life and career, including his dispute with Pirate manager Donie Bush and his subsequent trade to Chicago in 1928.

cubs spring training address: Chicago Cub Shot For Love, The: A Showgirl's Crime of Passion and the 1932 World Series Jack Bales, 2021 In the summer of 1932, with the Cubs in the thick of the pennant race, Billy Jurgens broke off his relationship with Violet Popovich to focus on baseball. The famously beautiful showgirl took it poorly, marching into his hotel room with a revolver in her purse. Both were wounded in the ensuing struggle, but Jurgens refused to press charges. Even without their star shortstop, Chicago made it to the World Series, only to be on the wrong end of Babe Ruth's legendary Called Shot. Using hundreds of original sources, Jack Bales profiles the lives of the ill-fated couple and traces the ripple effects of the shooting on the Cubs' tumultuous season--Back cover.

cubs spring training address: Chicago Cubs, 1926-1940 Art Ahrens, 2005 The Chicago Cubs of the mid-1920s through 1940 were one of the most talented and exciting ball clubs the city ever produced. The Northsiders enjoyed 14 consecutive winning seasons and claimed the National League pennant four times (1929, 1932, 1935, and 1938), but fell to a dominant American League club in each World Series appearance. Four legendary baseball names led these Cub teams during this amazing stretch. Three eventually landed in Cooperstown (McCarthy, Hornsby, Hartnett), and many believe the fourth (Grimm) should have joined them. This was also the era when Cubs Park was transformed into Wrigley Field, under the guidance of Bill Veeck Jr., with its trademark bricks and ivy, hand-operated scoreboard, and outfield bleachers.

cubs spring training address: Baseball, Golf, Wars, Women & Puppies Buck Peden, 2011-08-10 I started my autobiography -- Baseball, Golf, Wars, Women & Puppies -- with a grabber page from my first trip to the Vietnam War on board the USS PERKINS (DD-877). Then, I followed with a chronological rendition which covered a trip to the Korean War and another to Vietnam during my 20 years in the U.S. Navy on three other different naval vessels, but began with the chronological format of a life of a river rat born somewhat infamously in 1932 on the banks of Memphis. My life in sports, approximately 16 years moonlighting as a photojournalist, my college education, followed by 12 years as executives with the Chicago White Sox (5) and Cubs (7), concluding with one of several ownerships of small companies rounded out my interesting career. I originally planned to continue with my three trips to the Vietnam and Korean Wars, including my injury and sad losses of shipmates and friends. Then, go to my childhood, parenthood, many exciting careers, etc., etc., etc. However, it didn't take too long for me to decide the categories overlap in too many places. Hence, A few years later Elvis Presley arrived on the planet and eventually became internationally famous there. Memphis, long known as the Home of the Blues, was to become also famous as the home of the King of Rock n Roll. My first high school, Whitehaven, is only a few blocks from Elvis Graceland. And, my Southside High bride and I began training our dancing shoes to the big bands of the 40s and peaked with the rocking and twisting of the 50s and 60s. Although only a senior-to-be in high school, the Korean War found me an early enlistee. Why? Because I was a youngster almost entering teenage during World War II. Everything was thrilling about the big one for a boy that age. All the toys were guns, tanks, jeeps, warplanes, etc. The war movies were always exciting and, in most cases, the hero ended up with the female star. As I was a young budding teenager, females were becoming of more interest in my life. I have never met any male whose sex life began earlier than mine (older girls are great teachers). Also, the U.S. Navy aircraft pilots were my idols. Landing airplanes on a sea-going vessel was my kind of challenge. I was so hooked that I joined the Navy to become a fighter pilot. The recruiter was surprised at how I could identify all aircraft of nations involved in WWII. I even memorized the horsepower of power plant(s), plus the cruising and maximum speed, of each airplane. My favorite was our Corsairs F4U, a gull-winged propeller fighter. It never occurred to me until this moment, recalling this tidbit, but one of these planes almost killed me. However, the moonlighting (working a civilian job at night) on shore duty between these wars helped prepare me for my career highlight era in Major League Baseball. There is no doubt about it, my leash of life is anchored to the sportsworld. My youth was playing or inventing sports orientated things. It gave me a second glance by people in the sportswriting and sportscasting fields. This all led to sports columnist and sports editor jobs in the newspaper business. This, along with learning the print business, was not only a challenge -- which I always relished -- but was mucho fun. The many hours and stress involved led to more and more alcohol. Which definitely made a honky tonk man out of me where there is plenty of wine, women, and song. The latter threesomes were like a personal little cloud that follows me throughout most of this autobiography. I wasn't able to attend college fulltime until I finished my 20 years in the U.S. Navy. Then finishing With Honors gave my mother extreme pride after her total education was a small (12 total students) high school in sticks of Mississippi. I had almost completed by Masters Degree and CA Lifetime Teachers Credential when I got into Major League Baseball and went to Chicago.

Chicago Cubs fans always will remember the beloved 1969 team. Yet the 1970 Cubs are, in many ways, more interesting. The Cubs added fascinating characters like Joe Pepitone and Milt Pappas to the legendary nucleus of Billy Williams, Ron Santo, and Ernie Banks. The team came closer than in any year between 1945 and 1984—finishing only five games out of first place in one of baseball's hottest pennant races.
