Each category lists specific items with corresponding nutritional information to facilitate easy comparison and selection.

Calories and Macronutrient Information

Calorie content is a key consideration in the Frisch's nutrition menu, helping customers manage their energy intake. The menu breaks down calories along with macronutrients such as fats, carbohydrates, and proteins. This information is crucial for individuals tracking their macros for weight management or health reasons.

Caloric Range of Popular Items

Frisch's menu items vary widely in calorie count, depending on ingredients and portion size. For example, classic Big Boy sandwiches range from approximately 600 to 900 calories, while smaller sandwiches and breakfast items tend to have fewer calories. Salads generally offer lower calorie options, especially when paired with lighter dressings.

Fat, Carbohydrate, and Protein Content

The nutrition menu details the amount of total fat, saturated fat, trans fat, carbohydrates, sugars, dietary fiber, and protein per serving. This clarity assists customers with specific dietary goals such as reducing saturated fat or increasing protein intake. For instance, some burgers contain higher fat content due to cheese and sauces, while salads provide more fiber and lower fat content.

Allergen and Dietary Considerations

Frisch's nutrition menu also addresses allergen information and special dietary needs to ensure safe dining experiences. The menu identifies common allergens such as gluten, dairy, eggs, soy, and nuts present in various food items.

Common Allergens in Frisch's Menu

Many menu items contain wheat (gluten), dairy products, and eggs, which are typical allergens. The nutrition menu specifies which items include these allergens, helping customers with sensitivities or allergies avoid adverse reactions.

Gluten-Free and Vegetarian Options

Frisch's offers some gluten-free options, such as certain salads without croutons or dressings containing gluten ingredients. Vegetarian choices include salads and select sandwiches that can be customized by removing meat or cheese. The nutrition menu highlights these options for customers following specific diets.

Healthier Choices and Special Diet Options

In response to growing consumer interest in nutrition, frisch's nutrition menu emphasizes healthier alternatives and special diet accommodations. This includes lower-calorie meals, reduced-fat options, and meals with balanced macronutrients.

Low-Calorie and Reduced-Fat Choices

Several menu items are designed to be lower in calories and fat, such as grilled chicken sandwiches or side salads. Customers seeking to reduce calorie intake can opt for these selections, often without sacrificing flavor.

High-Protein and Fiber-Rich Options

For those focusing on protein intake, frisch's offers grilled chicken entrees and salads rich in lean protein. Fiber-rich menu items include salads packed with vegetables and whole-grain sides where available.

Customizing Orders for Nutrition

The nutrition menu encourages customization, allowing customers to make substitutions or remove certain ingredients to better align with their dietary goals. For example, omitting cheese or mayonnaise can reduce fat and calorie content significantly.

Tips for Making Nutritious Selections at Frisch's

Utilizing the frisch's nutrition menu effectively can enhance the dining experience while supporting health objectives. Being aware of portion sizes, ingredient content, and preparation methods is essential for making nutritious choices.

Practical Ordering Strategies

- Choose grilled rather than fried items to reduce fat intake.
- Opt for side salads or fresh fruit instead of fries.
- Request dressings and sauces on the side to control added fats and sugars.
- Consider smaller portion sizes or share larger meals.

frisch s nutrition menu: Nutrition Standards and Meal Requirements for National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs Institute of Medicine, Food and Nutrition Board, Committee on Nutrition Standards for National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs, 2009-01-15 The National School Breakfast Program feeds 10 million children each day, and the National School Lunch Program feeds more than 30 million students. Yet the national nutrition standards and meal requirements for these meals were created more than a decade ago, making them out of step with recent guidance about children's diets. With so many children receiving as much as 50 percent of their daily caloric intake from school meals, it is vital for schools to provide nutritious food alongside the best possible education for the success of their students. At the request of U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), the Institute of Medicine assembled a committee to recommend updates and revisions to the school lunch and breakfast programs. The first part of the committee's work is reflected in the December 2008 IOM report Nutrition Standards and Meal Requirements for National School Lunch and Breakfast Programs: Phase I. Proposed Approach for Recommending Revisions. Phase II of the report is expected in Fall 2009. This first report provides information about the committee's approach as it reviews the school lunch and breakfast programs. In the report's second part, the committee will share its findings and recommendations to bring these meals more in line with today's dietary guidelines. The committee welcomes public comments about its intended approach. An open forum will be held January 28, 2009 in Washington, DC to receive input from the public. Please go to <http://www.iom.edu/fnb/schoolmeals> for details or email FNBSchoolMeals@nas.edu with any input.
