teaching the teacher destiny dixon: Celebrating Teachers Chris Henley, Gary Toward, 2021-07-05 Celebrating Teachers: Making a difference, written by Gary Toward and Chris Henley, is a feel-good celebration of all that is great about teachers and teaching - and an exploration of the difference teachers make and how they do it. Forewords by Ben Bailey Smith (aka Doc Brown) and Sir Anthony Seldon. Gary Toward and Chris Henley believe that teaching is the best and most important profession. Now, you might argue that it would be medicine that should take that accolade - as medics save lives and mend people. But teachers create lives and 'make' people. They, in fact, create medics! This book celebrates the superhero of the classroom: the teacher. Teachers make a difference, and often that difference is life-changing. In this book, Gary and Chris look at some of the many cases where such a difference has been made and examine exactly what it was that made such an impact on the life of the young person - and they also highlight the key approaches that teachers might want to try out in their own classroom, with their own pupils. The authors link the real-life case study stories to what educational research and cognitive science tell us, and point the way for all teachers to adopt, adapt and develop these effective strategies and approaches in their own practice. And, in sharing these inspiring stories, Gary and Chris hope to offer an antidote to the negativity that too often circulates in the media around education and the teaching profession. An uplifting and insightful read for all teachers and educators.

teaching the teacher destiny dixon: God's Grace Kept Me Jennifer Dixon, 2024-08-19 Jennifer Dixon didn't always recognize her greatness. While growing up in a faith-filled home and raised in church, Jennifer loved God, and knew He loved her and had a purpose for her life. Yet, it wasn't until she developed a more intimate connection that she discovered the beauty of God's grace and His reason for placing her on Earth. Dixon, a fierce warrior and entrepreneur, shares insight into her personal experiences with cerebral palsy, disappointment, rejection, and insecurity while demonstrating how God's grace sustained her during the greatest and darkest times in her life. She also reveals twelve powerful lessons she has learned on her journey to help propel others forward, offer encouragement to achieve dreams, and illustrate that all things are attainable with God by our side. Through her impactful testimony, others will find the courage to: • Triumph over every obstacle; • Embrace God-given gifts; • Pursue goals passionately, confidently, and fearlessly; • Follow the path God has created; • Make a difference; • Evolve into the true self; and • Build and strengthen a relationship with God. God's Grace Kept Me shares uplifting personal experiences and powerful lessons that will help others renew their strength, find purpose, and transform their lives, even during challenging times.

teaching the teacher destiny dixon: Theological Anthropology at the Beginning of the Third Millennium Kevin Wagner, Peter John McGregor, M. Isabell Naumann, 2022-04-29 Theological Anthropology at the Beginning of the Third Millennium is the third volume of the Theology at the Beginning of the Third Millennium series. Bringing together Catholic and Orthodox scholars of diverse disciplines, this work sheds new light on the question what does it mean to be a human person? Beginning with an overview on the state of the discipline in our time, the book brings theological anthropology into dialogue with epistemology, Christology, science, spiritual theology, and pedagogy. It explores how human persons—who are created in God's image and likeness—can come to knowledge of the self and the other, such that the individual person can know, love, and be united to the God and Father of Jesus Christ.

HIS LITTLE SISTER'S BEST FRIEND? For Ben Tyler, his kid sister's closest friend Dusty—don't ever call her by her real name Destiny—Talley is always just around, giving him fits. That hasn't changed much over the years. Even though Dusty is a full-grown woman now. A full-grown, beautiful, tempting, maddening, desirable woman, fully capable of capturing unsuspecting thriller novelists like Ben with a single smile. Who knew Dusty could smile at a man like that? Could make Ben feel like that? So, what is a man supposed to do about a woman like her? Especially when that man is on a real deadline now? Avoidance is probably his best option. But that's rather hard to do when the wiring in his apartment goes out and Ben is forced to check in at the Talley Inn...Where his Destiny awaits. WHAT HAPPENS NOW? She is a Talley of Masterson County. Dusty has always known who she is, where she comes from. So why does she feel so confused now? Maybe it has to do with what happened to her before? Nearly being murdered eight months earlier had changed her—how could it not have? Now she's just...confused. About everything, really. Especially life. She's doing her best to figure things out. But...maybe... well... maybe Dusty really doesn't know what she wants right now. AND THEN THERE IS...BEN. Figuring out her best friend's annoying older brother does seem like a good place for Dusty to start. There is something different in the way that man is looking at her now. Something...hotter. More dangerous. Shiver-inducing and everything. Something that has her heart racing in a way she never imagined before. Is it any wonder Dusty was so confused right now? BUT TIME IS RUNNING OUT. But someone else from the Talley Inn has an even bigger problem. They witnessed something in Masterson County twenty-three years ago, something that put their entire family at risk back then. They've been running ever since. When Dusty crosses their path, choices have to be made. Choices that can change everyone's destiny forever. And answer questions that have haunted Dusty's family for decades now... They know one thing—one wrong move, and Dusty will pay the price. If Ben doesn't find her fast, he might just lose the woman he's destined to be with... forever. DEFINING THEIR DESTINY is a full-length, small-town western romantic suspense novel and part of the Masterson County connected stand-alone series. The Masterson County series contains scenes of violence, adventure, occasional dark criminal behavior, moderate cursing—especially by villains, a few mild-to-moderate love scenes, and references to subject matter that may distress some readers. The Masterson County books contain the same level of descriptive content as a typical crime drama on network television—but good always wins out in the end, guaranteed.

teaching the teacher destiny dixon: Race Lessons Prentice T. Chandler, Todd S. Hawley, 2017-05-01 We hold that the mission of social studies is not attainable, without attention to the ways in which race and racism play out in society—past, present, and future. In a follow up to the book, Doing Race in Social Studies (2015), this new volume addresses practical considerations of teaching about race within the context of history, geography, government, economics, and the behavioral sciences. Race Lessons: Using Inquiry to Teach About Race in Social Studies addresses the space between the theoretical and the practical and provides teachers and teacher educators with concrete lesson ideas for how to engage learners with social studies content and race. Oftentimes, social studies teachers do not teach about race because of several factors: teacher fear, personal notions of colorblindness, and attachment to multicultural narratives that stress assimilation. This volume will begin to help teachers and teacher educators start the conversation around realistic and practical race pedagogy. The chapters included in this volume are written by prominent social studies scholars and classroom teachers. This work is unique in that it represents an attempt to use Critical Race Theory and inquiry pedagogy (Inquiry Design Model) to teach about race in the social science disciplines.
